Episode Title: Good Fortune
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 7/13/2010 11:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:26:46

Good Fortune is a provocative exploration of how massive international efforts to alleviate poverty in Africa may be undermining the very communities they aim to benefit. In Kenya's rural countryside, Jackson's farm is being flooded by an American investor who hopes to alleviate poverty by creating a multimillion-dollar rice farm. Across the country in Nairobi, Silva's home and business in Africa's largest shantytown are being demolished as part of a U.N. slum-upgrading project. The gripping stories of two Kenyans battling to save their homes from large-scale development present a unique opportunity see foreign aid through eyes of the people it is intended to help.

Series Title: Lafayette: The Lost Hero
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 9/13/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Lafayette: The Lost Hero is an historical detective story. Who was the Marquis de Lafayette? How and why did he come to America? This film tells the story of the life and legend of an intriguing, neglected and controversial figure, who left France at the age of 19 and fought courageously for the independence of the United States. Along the way, we discover the story of Lafayette's fascinating wife, Adrienne De Noailles, and the arranged marriage that became a great romance and a profound partnership in revolution. Lafayette: The Lost Hero also explores the ideals of the Enlightenment that Lafayette stood for - ideals that played out in the compelling narrative of his life and became a foundation for America's core values of equality and freedom. The film searches for the truth about this elusive personality, and why he matters today.

Series Title: American Masters
Episode Title: Merle Haggard: Learning to Live With Myself
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 7/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Merle Haggard actually lived the rambling, gambling, love 'em and leave 'em, often brutal life that remains the bedrock of country music lyrics - he hopped his first freight train at the age of 10, became a chronic truant and drinker and was locked up some 17 times as a youngster. Serious criminal charges followed, including car theft. He was, literally, in the inmate audience in 1959, when Johnny Cash gave his New Year's Day concert in San Quentin - and, as he's said repeatedly, "my life changed forever." The film features interviews with comrades and fellow musicians including Robert Duvall, John Fogerty, Billy Gibbons, Kris Kristofferson, Keith Richards, Tanya Tucker, Don Was, and Dwight Yoakam, among others.

Series Title: Citizen Architect: Samuel Mockbee and the Spirit of the Rural Studio
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 8/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

In 1993 the late architect and MacArthur "genius" Samuel Mockbee started the Rural Studio, a design/build architecture program, in which students create striking architecture for impoverished communities in rural Alabama. Guided by frank, passionate never-before-seen interviews with Mockbee, the film shows how a group of students use their creativity, ingenuity and compassion to craft a home for their charismatic client, Jimmie Lee Matthews. Known within the community as Music Man because of his obsession with soul music, Jimmie Lee maintains a healthy zeal for life, blasting R&B from his vast collection of used stereos and boasting that he "ain't never met a stranger!" These relatively affluent, typically middle class students cross a threshold into Music Man's world to form a strong bond with a role model and friend-- someone they likely would not have met had they not left the comfortable university campus for rural West Alabama. The Rural Studio is about more than building. It is also about providing students with an experience that forever inspires them to consider how they can use their skills to better their communities. Interviews with Mockbee's peers and scenes with those he's influenced infuse the film with a larger discussion of architecture's role in issues of poverty, class, race, education, social change and citizenship.

Talk about White House ups and down, bad news on job numbers, good news on Elena Kagan, and political fallout from a California gay marriage decision, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "The road to recovery doesn't follow a straight line. Some sectors bounce back faster than others." No kidding. The nation's economic zigzag continued in July with new signs of weakness. The light at the end of the tunnel is still some distance away. But history was made in the Senate this week with Elena Kagan's Supreme Court confirmation. The debate was familiar. Sen. Pat Roberts (R-KS) said, "Her record clearly demonstrates a propensity toward pursuing an activist agenda." Sen. Charles Schumer (D-NY) said, "They want their own brand of activism. Judicial activism of the right -- to pull the court and the country away from the mainstream." But the president won the day. President Obama said, "So it is now my great pleasure to introduce as our next Supreme Court justice, Elena Kagan." And in California, a judge overturns a ban on same-sex marriage. A Gay Marriage Supporter said, "Americans are going to understand that we are people. We lead exciting lives, boring lives. We love our family, our friends, our children. And so it is a great day." A California Voter said, "The voters say no, then that's who should decide, not a federal judge." A constitutional fight most likely headed to the Supreme Court. Covering the week: Eamon Javers of CNBC, Joan Biskupic of USA Today, and Gloria Borger of CNN.

Rick Scott, Florida Republican gubernatorial primary winner: Tonight we have sent a clear message to the Washington insiders. Yet, as outsiders stage upsets, some insiders survive. Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) said, "Republicans will win in November and we will regain our majorities in both the Senate and the House." Rep. Kendrick Meek (D-FL) said, "I made the case that I am the real Democrat in this race." Millions of dollars and dozens of negative ads later, the immensity of the midterm challenge becomes a little more clear, in part because the economy refuses to recover with yet more bad news on housing and on Wall Street. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) [House Minority Leader] said, "President Obama should ask for and accept the resignations of the remaining members of his economic team." Vice President Joe Biden said, "Folks, I'm still waiting for what it is that they are for." Plus, an unexpected court ruling revives the stem cell debate. The Charlie Rangel mess, a federal judge gets Arizona's immigration law, and wartime leaks and wartime stress, tonight on Washington Week. For Democrats headaches and more headaches. Rep. Zoe Lofgren (D-CA) said, "Public office is a public trust. Our task is to determine whether Representative Rangel's conduct met that standard." Rep. Charlie Rangel (D-NY) said, "There's no allegation that this is scintilla bit of evidence that I have been guilty of corruption, wrongdoing." The House Ethics Committee sees it differently. And with midterm elections just over three months away, a debate over the economy--is it picking up rapidly enough? President Barack Obama said, "We've got a long way to go. But we're beginning to see some of these tough decisions pay off. We are moving forward." The administration wins one in Arizona, where a tough new immigration law is almost entirely struck down. Gov. Jan Brewer said, "We are going to continue to request that we get heard on this and that the citizens of Arizona are protected." And the war in Afghanistan continues on its bumpy course with new revelations--a classified insider's view of the war and fresh evidence of how stress is hurting the effort. Covering the week Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post, Pete Williams of NBC News, and Martha Raddatz of ABC News.

It is the summer of 1982 and Ronald Reagan has decided to replace his Secretary of State. The man he has chosen for the job is George Shultz. A brief biography introduces us to this remarkable man who has been a respected academic, a corporate leader and Secretary of the Treasury. In 1982 the world is in turmoil as the new Secretary takes over. Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger openly opposes Shultz' initiatives for a peace-keeping force. In this first episode of "Turmoil and Triumph" one crisis after another boils over from the Middle East to news that the CIA is secretly aiding Nicaraguan Contra rebels. Despite strenuous opposition from many of Reagan's advisors, Shultz secretly arranges for Regan to meet the Soviet Ambassador to the United States. This episode ends as the successes of Shultz' skillful negotiations are shattered with the tragic bombing of the Marine barracks in Lebanon.

Two big items checked off the president's to do list--signing financial reform into law and extending unemployment benefits, but it was a sloppy firing with an unknown government employee that forced the White House off message this week. I'm Gloria Borger sitting in for Gwen Ifill tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama, said, "We finally overcame the procedural blockade of a partisan minority in the Senate to restore unemployment insurance for about 2.5 million Americans who are out of work and looking for a job." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "He went out of his way to misrepresent the position of Senate Republicans. Of course we ought to extend unemployment, but we ought to pay for it." Ben Bernanke, Federal Reserve Chairman said, "The economic outlook remains unusually uncertain." So who should we believe and what's the best way to help those hit by the recession? The video clip that caused an uproar, followed by the firing and then the backpedaling. Press Secretary Robert Gibbs said, "A disservice was done for which we apologize." Secretary Tom Vilsack said, "I started off by extending to her my personal and profound apologies." Sec. Gibbs said, "The president expressed to Ms. Sherrod his apologies for the events of the last several days. Inside the firestorm that put the media, the White House and the issue of race front and center. Or was it just a bungled personnel matter? And in the post-9/11 era has America's intelligence community gotten too big and unmanageable?
